

BHA Spotlight – Davis Dow

Meet Davis Dow from the Southeast Alaska Regional Health Consortium (SEARHC) who won the BHA “Rising Star Award” for someone who has been employed for 1-5 years and demonstrates excellence in their role by continuously delivering exceptional client care and has somehow improved the behavioral healthcare delivery system in their community. His colleague wrote “Davis has been working at SEARHC for over 4 years and has shown exceptional skills working with the rural demographic. He is always willing to take on any challenge with positivity and thoughtfulness.

Davis created and continues to foster a successful relationship with our local school district, to cater to the needs of our youth clients that need services within the school hours. He has shown great initiative in the drive to help others by identifying a lack of resources for homelessness in our community. He reached out to all of our local businesses and asked if they would donate items for the homeless and contacted local grocery stores to ask for food card donations. He was extremely successful in his efforts and we now have a resource that we didn't have before.

Davis will be continuing his professional development this fall by registering to begin the BHA III training program.
